

Maximum Work Hours and Multiple Jobs

According to University policy, all student employees are to be employed on a part-time basis and cannot result in the displacement of a Civil Service or other full-time Faculty/Staff position. The following maximum work hours and multiple job restrictions were established to comply with University policy, the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services and Internal Revenue Service regulations.

Student Employment Services monitor maximum work hours and will notify you and your employer if you exceed the maximum number of hours you are allowed to work.

If you are employed in more than one student employment position, the hours worked in all of your student employment jobs cannot exceed the total hours set forth below.

Break periods are defined as a duration of 5 days or more.

The first time you exceed the number of hours you are allowed to work you will receive a warning notice; the second time you exceed the number of hours you are allowed to work you will receive a termination notice.

If you believe the hours reported are incorrect, please contact your employer. Your employer must verify that your hours were reported incorrectly and provide documentation via e-mail to Student Employment Services.

U.S. citizens and permanent residents will need to contact Student Employment Services regarding re-eligibility for student employment due to termination for maximum hour's violation. International students will need to contact International Student and Scholars Office regarding the process to apply for reinstatement with the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services.
